Thank you for the opportunity to testify in support for Bill 6 (2017), which will prohibit the use of electronic devices while crossing a street or highway.

My name is Taylor Fujimoto I am a sophomore at Waipahu High School and a member of the Youth For Safety Club. For the past four years, the Youth For Safety Club has been an advocate for traffic safety issues within the state. Back in October 2016, we conducted a Traffic Safety Campaign in which we recorded data on our student's pedestrian behavior. 1,000 students had crossed the street within 20 minutes after school and many displayed unsafe behaviors, including jaywalking, crossing against the light, and using their electronic devices while walking through a busy intersection. Youth For Safety strives to address these issues and continuously take steps to improve the safety of our environment.

While observing the behavior of my fellow peers and neighbors, I have noticed that using electronic devices while crossing the street has become a dangerous pedestrian habit. I have seen peers step down from a curb to cross the street without looking for any oncoming vehicles, or whether approaching ones have come to a complete stop. In addition, many others cross the street leisurely without even sparing a glance at the signal timer ticking down.

After observing these issues in my community I strongly believe that Bill 6 (2017) should be passed. The prepositions of this bill would ensure the safety of our pedestrians, and show the community leaders' best effort to address safety issues the public may have grown ignorant to. Enacting this bill will increase safety and awareness throughout communities, especially our younger generations. Just as drivers have the responsibility of yielding to pedestrians, pedestrians should also be aware of their responsibility to practice good safety measures at all times.

Mahalo for your consideration.
